IN THE UNITED STATES DESIGNATED/ELECTED OFFICE (DO/EO/US)

Sir:

In a notification of missing requirements dated June 29, 2005, the Office requires the filing of a declaration in compliance with 37 C.F.R. §1.497(a) and (b). The Office notes that the declaration filed on January 28, 2005, identifies the third inventor as "Kazuaki SOUDA" and the international application identifies the third inventor as "Kazuaki HAYATA". The third inventor's name is "Kazuaki SOUDA" as identified in the declaration.

Applicants submit herewith a statement explaining the discrepancy between the identification of the third inventor in the declaration and in the international application. Applicants also submit a substitute declaration.

As explained in the statement, the reason for the discrepancy is that the Japanese characters for the inventor's last name can be read as "HAYATA" or "SOUDA". When the international application was filed, Mr. Souda's last name was inadvertently identified as "HAYATA". Three sets of the declaration were executed by the inventors. Mr. Souda noticed that his last name was incorrectly identified in the declaration and corrected the set of the declaration that he executed. However, the change made by Mr. Souda to the set of the declaration that he executed was not noted until the Office issued the notification dated June 29, 2005.

The notification also indicates that a late declaration surcharge of $130.00 for providing the declaration more than 30 months from the priority date is also required. Applicants submit that this fee is not required since the declaration filed on January 28, 2005, was submitted in a timely manner and in compliance with 37 C.F.R. §1.497(a) and (b). The declaration filed on January 28, 2005, contained all information required by and was properly executed under 37 C.F.R. §1.497(a) and (b). The fact that the international application incorrectly identified Mr. Souda does not make the declaration filed on January 28, 2005, defective.

A copy of the notification of missing requirements is also attached.

In the event that this paper is not considered to be timely filed, applicants hereby petition for an appropriate extension of time. The fee for any such extension may be charged to our Deposit

STATEMENT

I, Itsurou Abe, hereby state that I am competent in both the Japanese and English languages and that the inventor identified as Kazuaki "Hayata" in International Application No. PCT/JP2003/010254 is correctly Kazuaki "Souda". The following are the reasons why the name in the international application and the name in the declaration are different.

The Japanese characters for the inventor's last name can be read as "Hayata" or "Souda". The inventor's first name is correctly "Kazuaki". When the international application was filed, Mr. Souda's name was inadvertently identified as "Hayata". The declaration filed in the U.S. as originally prepared also identified his name as "Hayata". Three sets of the declaration were executed by the inventors. Mr. Souda noticed that his last name was incorrectly identified in the declaration and corrected the set of the declaration that he executed. However, the change made by Mr. Souda to the set of the declaration that he executed was not noted until the United States Patent and Trademark Office issued a Notification of Missing Requirements under 35 U.S.C. §371 in the United States Designated/Elected Office dated June 29, 2005.
